For Immediate Release

INDOOR RECREATIONAL FACILITIES COMMUNITY MEETINGS SET

RESTON, Va. – The Board of Directors of the Reston Association now has scheduled four community meetings to hear from you on the idea of an indoor recreational facility.

There will be one meeting held in each of the four Association districts. The RA District Representative will host each listening and educational session. All members of the community are encouraged to attend the session in their district.

“The primary goals of these sessions are to get your responses to three main questions and to provide an historical overview of all the ways RA has worked to address the community desires for year-round swimming and tennis in the past,” said Robin Smyers, President of Reston Association.

The three questions are:

1. What do you think about the idea of a year-round recreational facility in Reston?
2. If you support the idea, what kinds of services would you like to see? What are your questions?
3. If you're not supportive, what are your concerns?

No decisions have been made on the future of indoor recreational facilities in the community. The association has been working with the Reston Community Center through a joint task force to determine the feasibility of indoor recreation for the community.

Background

The RA and RCC Boards, through a Joint Task Force, have been working together since early last fall to explore the potential for a joint indoor recreation facility. It would include indoor aquatics, tennis, gymnasias, program and community space and the required parking. Both organizations have identified needs for additional indoor recreation space, as well as community use space. No decisions have been made by either Board. Gathering community input is critical to the process, and this summer will focus on this effort.
