

Three community center board members appointed

Three people were selected to serve on the Reston Community Center Board of Governors during the agency's annual "preference poll." Residents of Small Tax District 5, which funds the Reston community centers, can vote for their preferred representatives on the board. The Fairfax County Board of Supervisors then appoints the poll winners to serve on the board.

Supervisor Catherine M. Hudgins (D-Hunter Mill) reappointed poll winners William G. Bouie, Carol Ann Bradley and Colin Mills to the board Monday. The three ran unopposed as they were the only candidates running for the three open seats.

